ANDERSON TREASURY SECRETARY

School Budget Adopted Here; Tax Rate Boost

The Monessen School Board last night adopted the budget for the 1957-58 school year calling for a tax increase of three mills—boosting the present tax rate of 16 mills to 19 mills.

The adopted budget contains the same figures as in the proposed budget submitted for public inspection on April 30.

The three-mill increase on real estate property will mean a rate of $1.90 upon each $100 valuation

The 1957-58 budget calls for expenditures of $1,122,083.50 compared to $989,836.25 in the current budget, an increase of $112,247.35.

In adopting the budget last night the board said the three-mill increase, which will bring in $98,215.47 in additional revenue, was necessary to meet state-mandated salary increases for teachers, higher operating costs, debts and fixed charges, such as retirement benefits, social security and insurance premiums.

Most of the revenue in the new budget will be realized from property taxes. Estimated revenue from real estate for next year amounts to $622,031.28, an increase of $106,178.26.

Rest of Revenue

State appropriations will provide the second biggest income item — $309,914.72 as against this year's $269,281.98. Other revenue will come from wage-income tax receipts, $145,000; deed transfer taxes, $18,000; tuition for non-resident students, $6,000, and amusement taxes, $3,000.

Delinquent taxes, along with other sources such as material sales and miscellaneous, complete the expected revenue

The biggest expenditure outlay will be for instructional services, including teacher salaries, supplies and other related expenses. The 1957-58 budget has $736,480 earmarked for this service, or $77,275 more than the present budget

Other anticipated expenditures are: school plant operation, $110,285; fixed charges, $76,150, debt service, including payments for bonds, $84,532.50, and capital outlay, $3,200.

Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent, said:

"The three-mill increase is absolutely necessary. I can assure you the board and myself will do everything in our power to keep within the budget. We will spend only what we have unless an absolute emergency occurs."

Social Security

Turning to other business, the board passed a resolution adopting an elective plan for Social Security coverage for both professional and non-professional full-time employes. This plan will cost an estimated $10,000 yearly. This figure is included in the 1957-58 budget.

Dimo & Hornbake, of Monessen, submitted the low bid of $8.15 per ton of screen coal for the district. The only other bid was submitted by Moncini, of Monessen. The latter asked $9 a ton.

After approving the summer work schedule for custodians, the board decided to meet with the custodians Tuesday at 9 p. m. to give consideration to several submitted proposals.

The board also passed a resolution to file an objection with the Federal Power Commission pro-

Murder-Suicide Ruled in New Wilmington Case

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Authorities indicated today the deaths of a high school girl and a man she dated constituted a case of murder-suicide, but the motive remained a mystery.

State police said investigators had not found a note or any other clue that might explain the deaths of Judy Barber, 19, and Theodore G. Fordney, 29.

Judy, who was to have graduated Friday from Wilmington Area Joint High School, was found strangled with an electric sweeper cord in the front hallway of her home Tuesday morning. She was clad in pajamas when found.

A short while later, Fordney was found shot to death in the back yard of his home, about six blocks from the girl's home. His head was mangled by the blast from a 12-guage shotgun which lay at his side.

Lawrence County Coroner John Meehan said circumstances "point to murder-suicide."

"It appears that Fordney strangled the girl and then went home and ended his own life," Meehan said.

An autopsy was to be performed on the girl's body in Cleveland today.

Acquaintances said Judy became engaged last September to Homer Miller, of Grove City, who now is in the Marine Corps, but that she dated Fordney and other young men.

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — James E. Briggs, 28, Jeannette, charged with assault, comes before Judges Edward G. Bauer today on an additional charge of prison breach as the result of a 90-minute escape from deputy sheriffs.

Briggs was being taken from jail to a fourth floor trial room in the courthouse when he broke loose and fled down the stairs. Chief Deputy Sheriff Howard M. Bricker stumbled and fell as he pursued Briggs and suffered a possible broken shoulder.

The prisoner escaped from the courthouse but was picked up 90 minutes later as he walked along tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad about three miles from Greensburg.

Frederic Feldman will read the names of those who died in World War II.

Following this solemn ceremony a rifle squad, made up of members of the two Posts and Joseph H. Ford Post, American Legion, will fire salutes and taps will be sounded.

The program will conclude with benediction by the Rev. Mr. Joensuu.

Prior to the Grandview ceremony, commanders of the posts will place wreaths on the Sixth St. Memorial, World War II Memorial at the Public Library and memorial tablets at Pittsburgh Steel Co., Page Division, American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., Toussaint's Corners and Memory Lane in City Park.

Women Fined For Carrying Kidnap 'Hoax'

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two Elizabeth Township women who engineered a "kidnaping" hoax that brought on a large-scale police search were found guilty Tuesday night of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

Justice of the Peace Daniel G. Kelly of Elizabeth Township imposed a $100 fine on Mrs. Mildred DeVirgilio, 44, whose "disappearance" the night of May 21 led to an extensive search. Her alleged accomplice, Mrs. Bertha Hostelt, was fined $50.

Mrs. Hosfelt paid her fine. But Jack Palkowitz, attorney for Mrs. DeVirgilio said she was innocent of the charges and would appeal the fine. Palkowitz posted bond for his client.

The two women admitted faking Mrs. DeVirgilio's "abduction" and said they did it so she could escape an unwanted suitor. Mrs. DeVirgilio was "found" at Ravenna, Ohio, Saturday.

Taking part in the ceremony will be members of Troop 3, which is sponsored by the Monessen VFW Post, and troop leaders.

The flag will be raised to the top of the newly-erected pole and will fly until sundown tomorrow.

The flag will be lowered by member of the Scout Troop and will again be flown on all legal holidays.

Scoutmaster for Troop 3 is Ray Purks.

'Berserk' Sailor Not Sorry He Killed Officer

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A 21-year-old mild-appearing sailor had "no regrets" today over killing his division officer and wounding two other men during a seven-hour rampage aboard a Navy attack transport.

The sailor, Jimmie L. Henderson, of Marin City, Calif., said he was not sorry he shot and killed Ens. Arthur L. Morris, 26, of Stow, Ohio.

"I feel like Mr. Morris, — needed it," Henderson said.

He said he shot Morris' roommate, Ens. Richard V. Harrison, 23, of Grand Rapids, Mich., "because he got in the way." Harrison was shot in the abdomen and the arm, but was reported in satisfactory condition at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

After the shooting, Henderson took Seaman R. W. Lakey, 20, Springfield, Ore., as hostage and seized control of the ship's bridge for more than six hours.

He finally surrendered to the pleadings of his mother, two chaplains, his commanding officer and a Marine officer, as a dozen Navy and Marine sharpshooters watched warily from the rigging and decks of the USS Uvalde.

The tense drama had its beginning Monday when a special court martial convicted Henderson on charges of failing to return a shipmate's watch which he had found.

Ike's Attack Was 'Run of the Mill'

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The heart attack suffered by President Eisenhower was a "run of the mill case," according to the physician who treated the chief executive.

"Easy diagnosis, routine treatment, good patient," was the description of the President's case given by Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston cardiologist, Tuesday night.

Dr. White spoke at the annual dinner of the Western Pennsylvania Heart Association.

The Association elected Dr. Edgar F. Cosgrove, Pittsburgh, as president to succeed Dr. Wendell B. Gordon.

School Board Sells $275,000 in Bonds

The Monessen School Board last night voted unanimously to sell $275,000 worth of bonds to meet current operating expenses and pay off back debts.

The successful — and only — bidder was the Arthurs, Lestrange & Co. and Associates, of Pittsburgh. The firm purchased the bonds at an interest rate of 4½ per cent.

The 4½ per cent interest rate produced a short discussion by members of the board and Supt. Joseph Pallone, all of whom believed the rate was excessive. Several present said they thought the interest rate would be less than or not more than four per cent.

Kenneth Moir, of the firm of Hosack, Specht, Muetzel & Wood, of Pittsburgh, fiscal agent of the district, advised the board to accept the bond bid "because if you wait the costs will go up." He said considering "today's security market, the bid is good."

Some directors thought it better to readvertise since only one bid was submitted. Moir told them:

"You will be taking the chance of increased interest rates, thereby erasing, perhaps, whatever you may hope to save by waiting for a lower interest rate."

The board decided to abide by his recommendation and passed the resolution selling the bonds to the lone bidder.

The bonds will be redeemed over a 20-year period, dated and bearing interest from the first day of June, 1957, at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of the months of June and December.

Hoxsey Cancer Clinic Denied Retrial Motion

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Cambria County, has been denied a retrial of a pill-seizure case and has been prohibited from treating out-of-state patients.

The actions were taken Tuesday by Federal Judges Wallace S. Gourley and John L. Miller.

Under terms of a temporary injunction issued by Gourley, the clinic may deal only with Pennsylvania residents and must not admit out-of-state patients or send them pills through the mails. The injunction expires June 5, the date set by Gourley for a hearing on a permanent injunction sought by the government.

Miller, who presided at last fall's 3-day trial involving the seizure of 500,000 pills by the government, denied defense requests for a new trial and a directed verdict of acquittal.

He said the "Hoxsey medications have again been weighed and found wanting. The evidence was overwhelming."

The pills were seized at the clinic in March 1955, after the Federal Food and Drug Administration said they were "misbranded and mislabeled" as cancer cures.

Judge Gourley joined in Tuesday's proceedings because Miller will be presiding at a lengthy trial beginning June 4 and will not be available for further hearings in the Hoxsey case. Gourley replaces him.

Food Registration

Surplus food registration for new registrants only will be held next Thursday, June 6, at the CIO Hall from 11 a. m. until noon.

Humphrey Quits; Successor Once Navy Secretary

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey resigned today. President Eisenhower nominated Robert B. Anderson, former secretary of Navy, as his successor.

Humphrey's resignation will become effective at a date no later than the close of the current congressional session.

Anderson's nomination was sent to the Senate at noon today for confirmation.

The White House also disclosed that Randolph Burgess, now undersecretary of Treasury, would leave his present post to accept another government appointment. The White House declined to say what the new Burgess' assignment would be.

Humphrey's departure from the government has been expected for some time.

Returns To Business

He informed the President that he had to give up government service as a matter of "absolute necessity" because of the illness and recent retirement from business of one of his former partners.

The President had known for two years that Humphrey planned to step out of the cabinet. But the actual decision had been postponed repeatedly.

Today, Eisenhower told Humphrey that the actual receipt of his letter of resignation, filled him with "profound regret."

"Yet because of your personal situation, which I fully understand I of course, accept your decision," the President said.

Humphrey has been secretary of Treasury since the Eisenhower administration took office in January, 1953.

His resignation marked the fourth departure from the original Eisenhower cabinet.

Three Others Quit

The late Martin P. Durkin quit as secretary of labor in a dispute over legislative recommendations. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby resigned as secretary of health education and welfare, and Douglas McKay resigned last year as secretary of interior to run, unsuccessfully, for the Senate from Oregon.

Anderson, an Eisenhower Democrat, served as secretary of Navy in 1953 and 1954. The 46-year-old native of Burleson, Tex., later was elevated to deputy secretary of defense, a post he held until late 1955.

Since leaving the government in 1955, Anderson headed a Canadian mining and development firm known as Ventures, Ltd.

Humphrey told the President that, in his remaining days of government service, he would be glad to assist in efforts to put the fiscal 1958 budget through Congress, particularly in the defense and mutual assistance areas.

When Eisenhower sent the $71,800,000,000 budget to Congress in January, Humphrey said there were a number of places where it could be cut. He also warned at the time that unless big government spending was reduced in future years there would be a "depression that will curl your hair."

Humphrey had high praise for Anderson and said he knew that it was "his fixed determination to carry forward the plans and policies in our fiscal affairs which have guided us continually dur-

Shirley Cleared At Short Hearing In Cop Shooting

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Shirley Cavanaugh, 28, was cleared at a three-minute hearing Tuesday of a criminal charge in the shooting of acting Detective Lt. Allen Carnahan.

A charge of felonious shooting was dismissed by Magistrate John J. Fioruccl after Carnahan testified the shooting was an accident. He said his service revolver went off as he pulled it toward him when Miss Cavanaugh reached for it.

Carnahan was wounded in the thigh and groin in the shooting, which occurred at a downtown after-hours club Feb. 24.

Carnahan had said originally the shooting was accidental, then changed his story and said Shirley shot him. Later, he went back to his original version of the incident.

Budget Vote Expected Today

House in Turmoil Over Bills

HARRISBURG (UP) — Weary House members today prepared to push through to the Senate the $1 107,000 000 Republican sponsored general appropriation bill after a determined GOP House majority rejected all Democratic efforts to restore some of the $94.500 000 in budget cuts at a 14-hour session Tuesday.

The decisive House vote on the general appropriation measure was slated to come sometime today with all indications it will go to the Senate with few, if any, dissenting Republican votes

For 14 debate-filled hours, except for brief recesses for lunch and dinner, the Democratic minority Tuesday tried through a series of amendments to restore at least some of the slashes Republicans made in the administration budget. But the Republicans declined to add a single dollar to their fiscal blueprint.

Dominant GOP House members knocked down 27 amendments which administration supporters introduced. The revisions aimed at restoring amounts ranging from $1,500 for ceremonies honoring Pennsylvania's Distinguished Daughters to 18 million dollars for the Welfare Department. The amendments would have replaced 45 million dollars of the funds sliced from the budget of Gov George M. Leader.

Cite Unspent Funds

When Democrats objected to some of the cuts, the usual reply of the Republican leadership was to quote figures showing that the department or agency in question had not spent all of the funds appropriated by the last Legislature. Former House Speaker Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) wryly observed:

"Apparently this administration is to go down in history as the first to finance its second biennium by the money it saved during the first biennium."

A midnight deadline set by House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (Armstrong) cut short debate on the last series of amendments which would have replaced some of the Welfare Department funds. Rep. Anthony J. Petrosky (D-Westmoreland) said he would require at least two hours to discuss the proposed revisions and was given permission to offer and talk on the amendments at today's session.

Trouble looms for the general appropriations bill when it reaches the Senate. A second Democratic senator, William J. Lane (Washington), warned he might filibuster if some of the funds cut from the bill are not restored.

"I have filibustered before," Lane said, "and while I never had any pleasure in it, I warn you that we are not going to see our welfare program torpedoed without a fight. You are not going to run this bill through the Senate like you are putting it through the House.

Threatens Long Talk

Last week Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) warned he may talk at length on the floor unless the Senate agreed to hold public hearings on the appropriations bill.

Only once during the long, drawn out debate in the House did the Republican leadership show any sign of hesitation concerning a GOP-sponsored budget cut. On a slice of five million dollars from a proposed 15 million dollars for occupational disease payments, House Republican Leader Albert W. Johnson said:

"We know the costs of this program are skyrocketing And if the 10 million dollars does not do the job, you will just have to come in for a deficiency appropriation."

U. S. for 'First Step' Disarmament Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States wants to see a "first step" disarmament program working successfully before jumping into a new Big Four conference with Russia on German reunification.

As American officials prepared to say goodbye to visiting West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, they voiced doubt a Big Four foreign ministers conference of Russia, Britain, the United States and France is in the cards for this year.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles scheduled a press conference today. It was possible the U S view would be brought out then.

Disarmament and the problem of a divided Germany highlighted Adenauer's three-day visit here. The 81-year-old German leader, who is in the midst of a tough election campaign, leaves for Germany tonight after some last-minute talks on civil defense and atomic energy.

In a communique Tuesday President Eisenhower and Adenauer agreed a start on disarmament could speed agreements on major political problems such as the 12-year-old east-west division of Germany. They also agreed a second or comprehensive agreement on disarmament should be preceded by German reunification.

Adenauer had a busy day Tuesday. He told Congress that "on my word before God . . . Germany will never again go to war to achieve unification" of Germany.

Adenauer also told a news conference Germany should be left out of any initial disarmament agreement that would set up an air-ground inspection zone. Germany's inclusion, he said, should be left to a later "comprehensive" agreement.

Gulf Dedicates New Laboratories In Research Area

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Gulf Oil Corporation today dedicated three new research laboratories, one of them housing a three million volt atom smasher for use in the "virgin field" of nuclear research in the petroleum industry

The laboratories, representing a combined multi-million dollar investment, will be staffed by 150 scientists, engineers and technicians assigned the job of finding ways of improving the speed and economy of oil production and of discovering new petroleum products.

The nuclear research facilities housed in the laboratories were described as "the most powerful and versatile to be found at any petroleum laboratory in the United States."

William K Whiteford, Gulf president, dedicated the three structures at the company's research center in nearby Harmarville. They were the William Larimer Mellon Production Laboratory and Drilling Building, the Richard Beatty Mellon Automotive Products Laboratory, and the Andrew William Mellon Nuclear Research Laboratory.

Israeli Tractor Driver Killed By Land Mine

By UNITED PRESS

An Israeli tractor driver was killed today and another farmer wounded seriously in the explosion of a land mine laid during the night by infiltrators from the Gaza Strip, an Israeli military spokesman announced in Jerusalem.

The explosion occurred on the outskirts of the village of Kissufim, near the Gaza border, while the tractor was taking dayshift workers to the fields The tractor passed safely over the same dirt road Tuesday night and police said infiltrators had entered the area since then

Israel's other Arab borders were quiet, but tension remained with Saudi Arabia over Israel's use of the Gulf of Aqaba and with Syria over construction of a "military" bridge in the Huleh Lake district near the Syrian border.

The U N. Security Council Tuesday night postponed further discussion of the Syrian complaint against Israel's construction of the bridge and ordered a new and fuller report from the Palestine truce supervision organization.

Egypt turned from international to domestic problems and President Gamal Abdel Nasser set up a three-man committee Tuesday night to select candidates for Egypt's forthcoming general elections.

ing the time that I have been here with you."

The President agreed. He wrote Humphrey in reference to Anderson, "so long as you must leave the post I can think of no other to whom I would rather trust the responsibilities of that office."

Humphrey not only was a member of the President's official family, but a close friend as well This was evidenced in Eisenhower's letter of acceptance.

"I cannot tell you what a sense of loss it is to Mamie and to me to know that you and Pam (Mrs. Humphrey) will shortly leave the intimate cabinet family," the President said.

On the official side of their relationship, Eisenhower expressed his gratitude for Humphrey's "extraordinary talents" in operation of the Treasury.

Reached Same Ideas

"It has been of real satisfaction to me that in working on these problems (of government finance) we have invariably found our conclusions and convictions to be practically identical," the President said.

It was at Humphrey's Milestone plantation near Thomasville, Ga., that Eisenhower pondered his second term decision following his heart attack. The Eisenhowers have visited frequently at the plantation.

At one time, Humphrey's position on government spending was interpreted widely as being at odds with Eisenhower's fiscal policies. But the President himself later said this was not the case He said he and Humphrey had joined in writing the statement expressing concern over the possibility of a depression.

Humphrey is slated to become board chairman of the National Steel Corp., Pittsburgh, a job that has been held open for him since Ernest Weir resigned last month.

Built Steel Company

Humphrey was instrumental in organizing National Steel in 1929 by combining Weirton Steel Co., Great Lakes Steel Corp., and various interests of M. A Hanna & Co.

Before coming to the government he served as a director of National Steel and as chairman of the firm's executive committee.

A native of Cheboygan, Mich., Humphrey practiced law at Saginaw before joining the Hanna Company at Cleveland as general counsel in 1917. He later became partner, vice president, executive vice president, and board chairman of the Hanna Company.

during the term of the bonds. The last bond will mature in 1977.

Over the 20-year period, the district will pay interest amounting to $132,075. This means the district eventually will pay $407,075 to borrow the $275,000.

The $275.000 is needed, according to the board, for the following purposes. $60 000 for current expenses, $155,000 for back debts incurred in improvements to school buildings and $60,000 to pay the cost of a new lighting system for the football stadium and new furnaces in a school building.

Before passing on the resolution, John Lancas, president, asked each member to comment on the bond issue.

The consensus was the interest rate was higher than expected but "we have no other alternative"

Appointment of Humphrey at National Delayed

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Election of retiring Secretary of the Treasury George M Humphrey as chairman of the board of National Steel Corp. will be delayed until after he has left the government.

In response to inquiries as to the expected naming of Humphrey as successor to E. T. Weir, National Steel founder who retired as chairman last month, Thomas E. Millsop, president of the firm, said today:

"Our board of directors will take no action on this matter until Mr. Humphrey's services as secretary of the Treasury are terminated."

Humphrey has been reported in line for the post with the nation's fifth largest steel producer since Weir, 81, announced he was stepping out after 67 years in the steel business and would recommend an "outstanding man" as his successor.

Directors of National Steel held their annual organizational meeting except a board chairman. The company said the chairmanship would be named at a special meeting of the directors "in the near future."

Japanese Halt Protest March On U. S. Embassy

TOKYO, (UP)—Japanese police formed lines three deep in front of the U. S Embassy in Tokyo today and fought off 100 enraged Japanese university students protesting the Nevada atomic tests.

A rainstorm and heavy police reinforcements appeared to have forestalled a large-scale protest, but a die-hard group of 50 students had a second angry clash with police in front of he embassy tonight.

The students converged on the embassy gate in a solid body in an attempt to crash police lines and enter the compound. The Japanese police ordered a charge and drove the students more than 100 yards down a hill.

The students held a rally and promised another demonstration "in a few days."

Shortly before the rainstorm student reinforcements arrived in a bus owned by the Association of Metropolitan teachers. At same time Japanese police opened embassy gates and nine embassy cars shot into the street loaded with embassy employes. The students did not attack.

The students joined in singing rousing and defiant "labor songs" and chanted "We want MacArthur." U. S. Ambassador Douglas MacCarthur II left the embassy shortly after the students arrived.

19 Persons Killed

Bituminous Coal Industry Squeezed

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J (UP)—The nation's bituminous coal industry is caught between the need to expand and the rising costs of capital expenditures, a Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. executive said today.

J. W. Kepler, Pitt Consol vice president sales, said the industry has been able through mechanization to reduce labor costs from 70 per cent of the mine price coal to 50 per cent in the last 20 years

This reduction, he said, was achieved only by an increase in equipment and depreciation costs from 10 per cent of the mine sales dollar to 20 per cent.

"The cost of building a modern mine takes anywhere from $7 to $10 per ton of annual output at today's price levels." Kepler told the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents. "This compares with a cost of $2 a ton for facilities in which handloading predominated. Here we see clearly the added cost of getting improved productivity."

Kepler said the coal industry started its building program in 1955 "while it still rested on a price structure that failed to support the investment of a mining plant over 20 years old."

"I know from operations of my own company that the 1956 price levels would not warrant mine capacity expansion. . .

"It may be that 1957 prices, reflecting the adjustment of April 1, can give the return on investment that further mine expansion will need I hope this is true because I know we are going to need additional mine capacity . . ."

Two Held for 'Goof Balls'

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — North Huntingdon Twp. police arrested two men Tuesday on charges of violating the drug law by selling benzedrine tablets to truck drivers.

Police confiscated two quarts of the tablets, commonly known as "goof balls" and intended to enable truckers to drive over long periods of time without sleep.

According to police, the suspects, Guy W. Betten, 31, of Cadillac, Mich., and Herman H. Burrous, 20, of Compton, Calif., sold the tablets to truck drivers at various places on Route 30 near the Irwin Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Betten and Burrous were held in the Westmoreland County jail here pending a hearing.

Aliquippa Pair Given Okay to Sue the State

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate Tuesday unanimously approved a bill to permit Mr. and Mrs. James Little, Aliquippa, to sue the Commonwealth for damages allegedly incurred by them as the result of the state's acquisition of their property for a proposed highway.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York), said the Little's missed their opportunity to bring suit against the Highways Department through "a lawyer's error."

The state Constitution provides that "suits may be brought against the Commonwealth in such manner, in such courts and in such cases as the Legislature may direct by law," which means in effect, that the Commonwealth cannot be sued except by its own consent.

Seyler's bill, which now goes to the House, would permit the couple to bring the suit in Beaver County Common Pleas Court.

Donora Man Named To School Board

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader has asked state Senate confirmation of his appointment of Abe Ruben, 102 Tenth St., Donora, to the board of trustees of the Scotland School for Veterans' Children Ruben, to serve until January, 1961, would replace Wilbur S Arbegast, Mechanicsburg, whose term expired

Probe Continues Into Reported Political Fight

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Attorney General Thomas D. McBride today awaited interviews with two key witnesses in the reported fist fight between Samuel G. Neff, Beaver County Democratic chairman and a western Pennsylvania newspaper publisher.

McBride said an "on-the-spot" investigation ordered by Gov. George M. Leader last week resulted in a preliminary report from deputies on the altercation involving Neff and James H. March, publisher of the Beaver Falls News Tribune in a Beaver Falls hotel May 20

He said the preliminary report contained interviews of 14 of 16 witnesses, but two others have gone to Bermuda and will not be back until June 1. McBride added the two were considered "most reliable eyewitnesses" and he would not proceed further until they were questioned.

The investigation was ordered by the governor in the wake of reports Senate Republicans were considering asking Leader to fire Neff, a former state senator, as manager of the state Workmen's Insurance Fund.

Boy's Arm Bitten By Timber Wolf

BRANDON, Man. (UP)—Doctors Tuesday night amputated the arm of a five-year-old boy bitten by a wild timber wolf at Brandon's Kinsmen Club Zoo last Sunday.

Bobby Gilmore's arm was badly torn when he thrust it through the bars of the wolf's cage. The arm was amputated just below the shoulder.

Housing Bill Is Caught in Economy Drive

WASHINGTON (UP) — The congressional economy drive today put the squeeze on the housing bill in the Senate.

The senators took up the big House-approved bill for the third day after trimming $1,250,000,000 from it. They were called into session an hour and a half early in an effort to complete action on the bill by nightfall.

The Democratic-backed bill provided $2,475,000,000 when it left the House and $2,850,000,000 when it left the Senate Banking Committee. It included increased authority for federal purchase of mortgages, more slum clearance and reduced the bill to $1,600,000,000 by a 67 - 11 vote.

The Senate slashed at the housing bill as administration forces in the House rolled out their biggest gun—a roll call vote—in an effort to reduce cuts in President Eisenhower's defense budget

The House met two hours earlier than usual in hopes of finishing work on the big defense budget by tonight.

Administration forces fought to restore about 344 million dollars of the more than two and a half billion cut from the military budget. But the more - money campaign failed Tuesday on its first test—a 145-113 non-record vote on an amendment to restore 80 million dollars. Administration forces hoped a roll call vote would swing more members to the side of the defense budget.

A Test for the Party Leaders

THE LEADERS of the two major political parties in Westmoreland County are facing a responsibility which may well demonstrate to the public how much importance these leaders attach to the competence and integrity of the courts.

The county committees of the two parties each will soon choose a candidate for common pleas judge to fill a vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter. The candidates so chosen will then go on the November election ballots along with the two other candidates nominated by the voters of each party in last week's primaries. And out of this list of six nominees, the voters will elect three judges.

This is quite a novel situation, involving as it does three of the four common pleas judgeships to which Westmoreland County is entitled. It should be apparent to every citizen that, depending on the outcome of this election, Westmoreland County is either going to have a common pleas court composed of judges of professional standing, personal integrity and political independence or it is going to have a court composed of political hacks who owe their allegiance, not to justice under the law, but to partisan subservience.

This is the issue of the campaign as we see it, and the people of Westmoreland County have not had a more fateful decision to make for at least two generations.

WE ALREADY know how the bosses of the Democratic courthouse machine feel on this question. They succeeded at the recent primary in renominating Judge Edward G. Bauer, a judge who habitually and openly violates one of the basic ethics of the legal profession, the one which requires judges to abstain from partisan activity. And to run with Judge Bauer, they nominated District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, whose neglect of duty in that office makes his candidacy a veritable mockery of good government.

No doubt the machine bosses will try to find another candidate of similar calibre for the third place on their ticket. But the primary returns showed that there are plenty of Democrats in Westmoreland County who are fed up with back-door justice and sloppy law enforcement. And we are wondering if they won't try, when the Democratic County Committee comes to make its choice, to designate one of the outstanding Democratic lawyers, of whom there are many, whether the bosses like it or not.

It may be naive, but we hope nevertheless that such an effort is made. It would go far to sustain public confidence.

AS FOR the Republicans, they have nominated two candidates for judge who are entitled to the respect of the people both professionally and personally. Both Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing Jr. would be infinitely preferable, in our opinion, to Judge Bauer and Mr. Sculco.

But the Republicans, too, must conduct a search for an outstanding attorney to complete their ticket. And friends of good government in both parties will hope that the search is successful.

We realize, of course, that a Republican nomination in Westmoreland County is hardly a pearl of great price. Under normal circumstances, the odds would be great against election.

But we venture to say that the circumstances this year are not normal. And we are confident that before election day arrives, voters of Westmoreland County in very large numbers in both parties will be demanding a different kind of judiciary than that to which a self-serving political machine has tried to accustom them.

We hope qualified lawyers will throw off their defeatism about the county court as well as their understandable reluctance to be counted against a political judge of the likes of Judge Bauer. And we hope they will give the people of Westmoreland County an honest chance to pick something better in November.

Day to Remember

IT IS ALMOST necessary anymore, on the eve of Memorial Day, to remind ourselves precisely what this holiday is about. There is a definite tendency to regard it as the official opening of the outdoor recreation season.

But that isn't the idea, of course. Memorial Day was first observed in 1869 to commemorate the sacrifices of the Union soldiers who died in the Civil War. Since then, it has been accepted as the holiday on which we are to remember all those who have died in battle for the protection of the nation.

Obviously, any celebration of Memorial Day which includes only a picnic or a visit to a swimming pool is not an adequate observance. Nor do we honor our war dead by participating in the carnage on the highways which is now routine on most American holidays.

The veterans organizations in most communities, including many in this area, arrange Memorial Day services, usually at the local cemeteries. And these should be included in the plans of those who would observe the day for what it really is.

Merry-Go-Round—

Chiang Had No Plans to Take China

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — U. S. Senators who visited Formosa last year took a long auto ride over extremely dusty roads, then an hour's flight in a bucketseat airplane to lunch with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Madame Chiang on their lake in the middle of Formosa. They came away wondering why they had taken the long trip.

Mr. Pearson

"Do you think you can retake the Chinese mainland?" asked Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

"Bow", replied the Generalissimo, holding out his glass of sweet wine in a toast.

Pressed further, and after more "Bows" which means "Health" Chiang said there was no question that he could retake his mainland.

"How will you retake it?" asked Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri.

"When I land," replied the Generalissimo, "the people will rise up everywhere and join me."

He gave no intimation that his own people would rise up against Americans fast.

Worst Diplomatic Attack

There have been some very red faces in Washington and New York following the anti-American riots in Formosa — the worst riots, incidentally, that any American diplomat can remember.

At no time in the history of the U.S.A. has an American embassy ever been invaded and gutted as our embassy in Taipei. An embassy is sacred soil, the sovereign property of the United States, as sacred as the soil of the White House or Congress; and even countries with which we have been at war, such as Japan and Germany, have so respected it.

But in Formosa, American diplomatic property was destroyed, and Americans beaten by angry mobs of the nation which would have ceased being a nation without American support.

No American diplomat can recall anything like it. Had the incident occurred in a Communist country, diplomatic relations would have been severed immediately.

Chief result is going to be a review of our entire relations with Nationalist China.

Red Face Roll-call

Meanwhile here are the faces which are still flushed and flaming over the outburst of anti-Americanism on the island kept going by American troops and American dollars:

Sen. William Knowland of California — Sometimes called the "Senator from Formosa." He is purple. Knowland has tried to cut foreign aid to other countries but has insisted on aid to Formosa. San Francisco's Chinatown politicians are among his staunch GOP backers.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur — It was over Formosa that MacArthur split with Truman and got fired. He told Republican senators visiting him in Japan that Chiang Kai-shek could use Formosa as a base to land on the Chinese mainland and retake Red China. The Chinese people would rise up in welcome, MacArthur maintained. Mac didn't figure that the Nationalist Chinese would rise up against Americans first.

Truman told MacArthur he, not the General, was running foreign policy, and yanked him home.

It was over Formosa that our bipartisan foreign policy broke up.

Admiral Arthur Radford — Who arranged to meet Ike on his "I will go to Korea" visit and who, while the plane refueled in Okinawa, sold Ike on "unleashing" Chiang Kai-shek to attack the Chinese mainland. Withdraw the U. S. 7th Fleet from hooding Red China, Radford argued, and the Generalissimo would retake China.

Eisenhower bought the idea, also bought Radford as part of the package. He made Radford chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Last week when Radford blasted Ike's disarmament plans, he got bawled out by the man who bought him. Doubtless Ike now wishes he'd never listened to Radford.

Sen. William Jenner of Indiana — Who made a speech on the Senate floor calling Gen. George Marshall a virtual traitor because he warned that Chiang Kai-shek was unlikely to retake his Chinese mainland.

John Foster Dulles — Who fired John Carter Vincent from the State Department as having poor judgment because he also advised that Chiang Kai-shek was a weak reed for the U.S.A. to lean on.

What Will They Come Out With?

From Washington—

Facts on the Atomic Treaty

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The outlook is better for Senate approval of the International Atomic Energy Agency. This is the vehicle through which 80 governments now are ready to carry forward President Eisenhower's "Atoms-for-Peace" plan and bring it to fruition.

Mr. Drummond

The reason the outlook for ratification is improved is that to probing, showme senatorial questions, the administration has been providing candid, factual, persuasive answers.

The answers which have persuaded several heretofore uncommitted senators are these:

Question — Could Red China be admitted to the agency?

Answer — It is conceivable but every action taken by the 80 nations in drawing up the statute of the agency makes it altogether unlikely.

Red China was rejected as a participant in the drafting of the statute. The government of the Republic of China (Formosa) was accepted as a drafting member. The Soviet Union sought to reverse this invitation. This was defeated. The credentials of Nationalist China were upheld decisively on five different occasions. As long as Nationalist China is a member of the agency, Red China would almost certainly not even try to join because the Red Chinese oppose the idea of "two Chinas." Even if she tried, Red China would not likely succeed since a majority vote of the board of governors must recommend new members.

Soviet Membership Small

Question — What will be the weight of the Soviet bloc in the board of governors?

Answer — This board, which will direct the operation of the International Atomic Energy Agency, is so set up that Soviet bloc membership is limited to a maximum of three out of 32 members.

Question — Can a Soviet bloc nation veto any of the actions of the agency?

Answer — No. There is no veto — except the veto of majority decision.

Question — Can the "rules of the game," that is, the operating provisions of the statute of the agency, be changed, after the Senate has ratified the statute as written?

Answer — Any change in the statute which the participating nations might wish, on experience, to make would have to be referred back to the Senate for ratification before it became binding.

Not a Give-Away

Two questions — Is this a give-away program?

In view of the fact that only 4 out of the 80 member nations have fissionable material, isn't it entirely possible for the "have not" nations to vote themselves grand projects and large quantities of fissionable material?

Answers — To both questions the answer is a very definite and factual no.

Apart from administrative expenses (estimated at $7,000,000 a year pro-rated among all members) the operations of agency projects will depend entirely on charges for materials and services provided.

The announced intention of the agency is to charge for the fissionable material it supplies for any project. It does have the authority to make exceptions. Does this provide an "open gate" by which "have not" nations can vote themselves fissionable gifts? No, because the United States and other possessor countries each determines how much fissionable material it will provide to the agency and can halt it at any time.

Inspection Included

Question — Are there safeguards against improper use?

Answer — The safeguards provided in our present bi-lateral treaties for atomic co-operation are built into the rules of the agency. This means continuous, first-hand inspection in all using countries, including any Soviet bloc nation which gets agency help.

Question — What are our choices?

Answer — We can exercise our world leadership, or we can resign it. But we can't stop the march of the peaceful atom. There are risks, but there are great rewards.

North Africa Keeping French Politics Riled

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Serious new trouble in North Africa is complicating the French cabinet crisis.

While President Rene Coty is trying to find a premier to succeed Guy Mollet, the relations between France and its former protectorate of Tunisia are at the breaking point.

Mr. McCann

Last Tuesday — the day Mollet was forced to resign after losing a confidence vote in Parliament — France suspended payments on its 35 million dollar a year aid program to Tunisia.

The reason was that the French government believed that arms which it was sending to Tunisia were being relayed to the rebels in Algeria.

Premier Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia responded by announcing that he regarded French-Tunisian economic agreements as having been cancelled.

Other Aid Plans Sought

Bourguiba then started a series of conferences with the diplomatic envoys of the United States and other countries on the possibility they might give the aid France refused.

The United States was brought more directly into the North African situation last Thursday, when the diplomatic representatives in Washington of 11 Arab countries made a formal request to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that American aid to France be suspended.

This request was based on the allegation that France was guilty of terrorism in its campaign against the nationalist rebels in Algeria.

The Algerian rebellion lies behind most of France's present troubles.

Reluctantly—partly due to United States encouragement of "nationalist" movements all over the world—France granted independence to its protectorates of Tunisia and Morocco in 1955.

Algeria, which is the most important of France's African possessions, remained as it had been—a part of France itself politically, with representation in the French Parliament.

Open Rebellion Continues

Open rebellion broke out in Algeria on Nov. 1, 1954. This rebellion continues. France is using nearly 500,000 troops in fighting the rebels. It is estimated that the campaign will cost France one billion dollars this year.

Morocco borders Algeria on the west. Tunisia borders Algeria on the east. Both Morocco and Tunisia are openly on the side of the Algerian rebels. Also, Tunisia lies between Algeria and Arab Libya. There is no doubt that the Algerian rebels are getting arms from Libya through Tunisia.

Successive French premiers have vainly sought a solution of the Algerian problem which would give the country a great measure of self-rule but would keep it as a part of France politically.

The French cabinet situation is so tangled that Paris dispatches now suggest the only solution will be to get Mollet back as premier.

Whoever does get the job will inherit the Algerian-Tunisian-Moroccan headache.

The Woman's View—

Picnic Season Is Now Officially Opened

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—If you can't beat 'em, may as well join 'em.

So, as the Memorial Day weekend unofficially begins the summer's outdoor dining season, I am available for invitations to backyard barbecues, fish fries and clambakes, and picnics at roadside parks. Before the summer is over, I may even pack a hamper of ham sandwiches and throw an outdoors feed of my own.

Gay Pauley

In short, I reluctantly join the national trend to eating in nature's surroundings. Both us people and insects are part of this al fresco dining—we consume parched hot dogs, they consume us.

I'm not trying to hold the dike . . . the onrush is unavoidable. It is estimated that this year we will consume two billion meals out of doors. (No one has made an estimate for the insects.) Somewhere along the line, 84 per cent of us this year will have at least one outdoors meal. We will spend a record 100 million dollars, in addition, on equipment for outdoor cookery.

New Society Urged

But I say it's time we eliminated some of the pitfalls. Let us form a National Society For Prevention Of Cruelty To Picnickers (NSFPOCTP) . . . with these suggested planks in the platform. Feel free to add your own peeves.

Down with hot dogs never hot; cold beer never cold.

Away with the show-off chef, in outlandish cap and silly-sayings apron. Let him settle down to the business at hand and turn out an expensive T-bone to a "T." Cook the barbecued chicken inside too. Also, let he who messes up wash up the mess.

Down with the monotony of menu. In a given three outdoor meals each summer, we run the gamut — potato salad, potato salad, potato salad. One potential member of the NSFPOCTP says the only thing he enjoys about picnics is the first course—cocktails.

If we must dine outside, leave us return to the menus of the all-day Sunday meeting and dinner on the ground. (Wasn't much refrigeration in those days, but we ate well. There was plenty of variety from home-fried chicken to home-made chocolate fudge cake, by the time you'd made the rounds.)

Away with sand in hamburgers, with cooks who add salad dressing three hours before salad is served, with soggy tuna fish sandwiches, with iced coffee in paper cups meant for hot and hot coffee in paper cups meant for iced.

Lap Dining Rejected

Down with lap dining, where I invariably lose the juggling contest and make mayonnaise part of the costume of the day. (At least at an indoor buffet, you usually can locate an end table for parking knife and fork.)

Forward with the comforts of cooking indoors where science and industry have given us girls every labor-saving device including automatic dishwasher. Forward with dining-room dining, with the air-conditioning unit on. (Maybe this way, I got no view. But I got no mosquito bites or poison ivy either. And no bad temper from combatting Sunday traffic.)

Another potential member of my NSFPOCTP said it occurs to him the picnic season offers the solution to the mystery of each summer's rash of flying saucer stories.

He said they are just angry picnickers throwing away their paper plates!

Exciting Novel Of Wartime on Aegean Island

By UNITED PRESS

Two 12-inch guns on the Aegean island of Navarone commanded the approaches to nearby Khoro blocking every attempt to rescue 1,200 British soldiers stranded there under the imminent threat of German attack. Air bombardment couldn't touch the big guns, and a British cruiser that tried to shoot it out with them was blown out of the water.

That is the situation assumed at the outset of "The Guns of Navarone", (Doubleday) an exciting, suspenseful novel of wartime adventure by Alistair MacLean, author of "H.M.S. Ulysses."

Five men were chosen to climb the unscalable south face of Navarone and silence the guns—Capt. Keith Mallory, famed New Zealand mountain climber; Lt. Andy Stevens, whose fear of being afraid made him the bravest of the brave; Cpl. "Dusty" Miller, a knockabout American known as "the finest saboteur in southern Europe"; Petty Officer Casey Brown, skilled engineer and radioman; and Andrea, a giant, indestructible Greek.

Ozarks Talk to Purdy Fedarko

The Monessen Ozarks are trying to persuade John (Purdy) Fedarko to take over the team. Fedarko was quite a pitcher in his day. He knows the game and would make a fine boss. However Purdy is busy now as a softball umpire. He has merely promised to "think over" the Ozark request . . . Incidentally current manager Pappy Johnson is doing his best to have Purdy to take the job. Pappy wants to turn over the managerial reins to somebody as soon as possible . . . Reportedly Red Worrell, Centerville's brilliant footballer, is signed and sealed for delivery to West Virginia University in the fall. Supposedly Red passed up a fabulous deal from North Carolina in favor of the Mounties.

Carl Crawley, Monessen High's all-around athlete, spent last weekend at Dayton University and was impressed by what he saw. However Carl hasn't committed himself to any school yet . . . Ah, those Monessen Ozarks are something. Last week they were lucky to field nine players while losing five straight games . . . This Monday no less than 21 Ozarks showed up for the contest against last place West Newton . . . The annual Washington-Fayette County All-Star football game will be played on August 15 in the Wash High stadium. Originally the game had been slated for August 13, but was moved back to avoid conflict with the Jaycee tussle at Forbes Field.

Pirates Cancel Charleroi School

The Pittsburgh Pirates have cancelled their tryout camp in Charleroi, originally scheduled for June 13-14. It seems the Yankees had a similar session planned for June 11-12. The New Yorkers agreed to advance the dates to June 7-8, but the Pirates felt the schools were too close together . . . Incidentally the Bucs may schedule a tryout session for Charleroi next season . . . Rich Matyus, the 6-2, 220 pound football and basketball star at Shannock Valley, is reportedly bound for Pitt . . . John (The Bull) Karcis, the former Carnegie Tech great, reveals that he'll stick with his multiple offense this autumn when he makes his coaching debut at West Deer High.

Andy Kuvinka, on leave from the U. S. Navy, has signed to play with the Monessen Ozarks for the next 30 days. Andy was quite a hitter in schoolboy ball . . . Bob Mastracci, the Ozarks slugging outfielder, joined the ranks of the benedicts recently . . . The word is out that either Pete Balaban or Paul Lapcevic will be advanced to replace the resigned Joe Metro as Ellsworth football coach. Balaban is the former Donora High and Waynesburg College footballer . . . Before his injury at Grand Forks in the Northern League, Bellmar's Rich Babich was hitting .344 in the Pirate farm system.

Today's Sports Parade—

Don Drysdale Youngest 'Veteran' in League

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—This was a year ago and the tall young man, looking a bit nervous, beat the Philadelphia Phillies for his first major league victory.

"It's something you just dream about, knowing it'll never come true, and then suddenly it is true."

This was the other night and the same tall young man looking not a bit nervous, beat the Philadelphia Phillies on two hits for his fourth win of the season.

"I guess it's the best game I ever pitched," he said

Thus, in the span of a year and against the same club, did 20-year-old Don Drysdale of the Brooklyn Dodgers complete the jump from rookie to veteran.

Amazingly Speedy Rise

His is one of the most amazing rises in sports, because young Don didn't start to pitch until three years ago and that victory over the Phillies on Monday night was only the 83rd game of his meteoric career.

Don's father once was a pitcher in the Texas and Pacific Coast Leagues and was headed up to Cincinnati when he came down with arm trouble. This, as young Don grew up suddenly in high school, his father warned him against pitching too soon on the theory that he might wreck his arm. It was sage advice

Because when he was a junior in high school, Don's arm began to pain and X-rays disclosed that it had grown so rapidly that the bones in his arm didn't join together with the elbow. For four months he rested the arm completely. When the arm was pronounced fit, his father told him they were ready to learn to pitch "and we started a steady backyard routine."

The payoff was almost immediate. A Dodger scout signed him off one season of high school pitching and after he graduated Don was sent to Bakersfield. There a record of eight wins against five losses earned him a promotion to Montreal in 1955 where he had an 11-11 mark, then to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Don had much to learn and compiled only a 5-5 mark last season But this year, still working on a change up to go with a "live" fast ball and a good curve, he has acquired the poise which comes only with confidence.

There is a feeling among the Dodgers that the two-hitter he threw at the Phillies can make a tremendous difference to him Sort of a final polishing. Now, they believe, the kid is really ready to go

Midget League Picks Same Officers for '57

Monessen Midget Football League's reorganization meeting didn't take long last night at Memorial Civic Center.

Director Carl Laszewski made a motion that the secretary cast a unanimous ballot for the incumbent officers. It was approved unanimously.

That means the officers for the coming year will remain as follows: Allen Kline, president; Stephen Pfeister, vice-president, Harold Wilkins, secretary, and John Mallino, treasurer.

The league authorized the purchasing committee to draw up a list of needed equipment When that is prepared, the Board of Directors will convene to approve the purchase.

The Directors also voted to hold the annual "kickoff" dinner early in August Persons who contributed to the success of the MFL last season will be honored at that affair.

Early Preparations

The Board also took steps to make early preparations for the 1957 campaign.

In his report, Treasurer John Mallino said that the MFL treasury now contains $1,592, with all bills paid That money is in addition to the funds raised recently for the erection of a concession stand at Memorial Stadium.

Part of that total will be set aside for the league's insurance fund.

Since the league plans major purchases this year, most of the money will be spent before the start of the '57 program.

A man has tact who won't change his mind but will change the subject.

Baseball, Racing Swimming Will Be Offered in District

Traditionally Memorial Day is featured by a variety of sports events.

So it's no surprise to find tomorrow's program jammed with district sports attractions.

There will be baseball, auto racing, boat racing and swimming to enliven the holiday in the area.

The baseball feature will be the twin bill at Forbes Field between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Brooklyn Dodgers.

At Gallatin, the Tri-State Racing Association will promote a regatta for outboard motor boats.

Begins at 1 p. m.

The event will begin at 1 p. m. at the Mancini Boat Club on the Monongahela River. There will be parking space for 400 cars and no admission will be charged.

At least 150 entries are expected for the afternoon races. The feature event will probably produce speeds up to 70 miles per hour.

Tri-State Racing officials feel the district site is one of the finest in the east for motorboat racing. The banks of the river afford a clear view of the entire course.

In Uniontown, the big Memorial Day event will be midget auto racing.

The new asphalt oval promises to attract some of the finest drivers in the country. Time trials will begin at 1 30 while the seven event program will get underway at 2 30.

Many Entries

Twenty-five to 30 entries are supposed to be at the starting line for the afternoon's fun.

At Spillway Lake near Perryopolis, the big attraction will be Gus Brickner, Charleroi's famed cold water swimmer.

Gus plans to swim the English Channel later in the summer. His trip will be sponsored by the owners of Spillway Lake.

So Brickner's appearance tomorrow will be in the form of a send-off. A big day is planned at the lake to wish Gus well on his gruelling venture.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

Overshooting Putt

Try the "dying-ball" method. The best putting is done with what is usually called the "dying ball." By that I mean the putt should be hit so that it will just barely reach the hole. This way, the ball can fall in the front on the hole or fall in on either side.

I don't mean that you should putt timidly. What I am saying is that you use this dying ball theory of putting instead of the "banging-them-in" method.

Once you develop a good touch, you won't have to worry about falling short, provided you hit the ball solidly and you follow through.

There is the obvious added advantage to this dying ball method that, when you miss, your next putt will be a very easy one to tap in.

National League Approves Move To Los Angeles, San Francisco

By LEO H. PETERSEN

CHICAGO (UP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants were set for the "California Gold Rush of '58" today in a package deal that may also transform the Cincinnati Redlegs into a New York franchise.

The way for the most drastic revision of the major league baseball map in history was officially paved Tuesday when National League club owners unanimously consented to permit the Dodgers to shift to Los Angeles and the Giants to San Francisco. The owners stipulated both clubs must make up their minds before Oct. 1.

General Manager Gabe Paul of the Redlegs did not ask similar permission to transfer the Cincinnati franchise but a top baseball official told the United Press the Redlegs will move to New York if the two other clubs move out. It was the same official who informed the United Press of the developments which occurred Tuesday.

Fury On All Fronts

The biggest bombshell to hit baseball in years resulted in the following furious activity:

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York said he will "do everything I can to keep the Dodgers and Giants in New York." Wagner is scheduled to take the matter up today in an emergency meeting with other city officials.

—Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles arrived in New York to press the matter with President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers and L.A. County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn predicted the Dodgers will announce in a few days that they are shifting to the West Coast city.

—The Ohio Legislature passed by a 110-2 vote a bill which would provide the Redlegs with a new stadium. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., must clear the Senate to become law.

—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick called the NL owners' action "improper" because of minor league territorial rights involved. He is without power to block the proposed shifts, however.

—In Washington, a United Press reporter said congressional reaction to the expansion of the league "is unquestionalby favorable." Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) and Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.) endorsed the idea when it was revealed exclusively by the United Press on Monday.

Both O'Malley and Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, stressed that they asked permission for the transfers "reluctantly" and left the door slightly ajar for new York City officials to change their minds.

"Whether we exercise the permission we've been granted remains to be seen," said O'Malley "I am aware of the fact that the people of Los Angeles and the government officials there are very anxious to have major league baseball. I think Brooklyn fans have been 100 per cent all right but we want a new ball park. We need a park where we can park cars and please fans. Right now, we can park only 700 cars."

"The league acted so that our club could be in a position to go to San Francisco," said Stoneham. "We like New York. But the support hasn't been there. We'd like to stay, but last year our attendance was away down (about 630,000). If we did move, I wouldn't mind another club moving into New York at all."

National League President Warren Giles confirmed that the Redlegs were asked whether they desired to transfer to New York at Tuesday meeting and said Paul replied, "We aren't asking consent for anything."

The United Press' informant pointed out that the Redlegs could not "ask to move into a city until the two teams currently there officially announce they are moving out of it."

Fish Commission Begins Study to Cut Its Services

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Fish Commission, faced with the prospect the Legislature may not consent to a requested increase in the current $2.50 license fee, today began a cost study aimed at cutting down some services.

Commission President R. Stanley Smith, Waynesburg, said the agency's staff was directed to report at the July meeting the savings that would specifically be realized by:

—Curtailment of fish propagation and stocking by closing down hatcheries.

—Returning to the three-mile minimum formerly set for streams to be stocked with state-reared fish.

—Closing the Fisherman's Paradise on Spring Creek near Bellefonte.

—Shortening seasons and reducing creel limits.

—Further reduction of personnel in other than the propagation and distribution activities and reducing the purchase of access areas and sections of streams.

Blind Students To 'Watch' Bucs

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A group of 35 blind students will attend today's Pirates-Dodgers ball game.

They will sit back of the screen behind home plate and will have radios to help them follow the game.

The group, from the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind, will be guests of the Oakland Kiwanis Club and will have seven club members as escorts.

Nobody ever gets anything for nothing but a lot of people keep trying.

33 Cars Ready for Speedway Race Thurs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — The 33 starters in the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race push their low-slung roadsters onto the speedway oval today for final tests and shakedown runs.

Some will practice tire changing and refueling against the stopwatch. Others will check carburetion and cruise around the brick and asphalt course at a speed they hope to maintain for 200 laps in their bid for fame and glory in the nation's premiere gasoline derby.

The weather outlook was optimistic. It called for "mostly fair and cooler"—a 100 per cent improvement over predictions for the two time trial weekends, when rain interfered on all but the final day last Sunday.

Pin Stops Discussed

The majority of pilots figured on at least two pit stops. Some cars, like the big powerful Novis driven by Paul Russo and Tony Bettenhausen, may make as many as four.

"The smoother you drive, the more you'll conserve your tires," said former national driving king Sam Hanks, who is competing in his 12th "500". "I plan to save my rubber so I'll have to make only two stops."

Hanks was runner-up to Pat Flaherty last year.

Jimmy Daywalt was one of the few speed merchants hoping to make just one stop—" and we can do it, too," he added confidently.

Although the racing fraternity differed on the number of pit stops, the consensus of opinion was the winner will stop three times for servicing. It's cat will be especially hard on tires because it is the "take charge" machine.

There also was general agreement that the record of 130.840 mph for the distance set by the late Bill Vukovich in 1954 will go by the boards. Estimates ranged from 131 to 137.

Pat O'Connor, the pole sitter and top favorite along with former winner Troy Ruttman in a poll of "Hundred - Mile - An - Hour Club" members, predicted the race would be faster than last year. But how fast "will be governed by the yellow light."

The yellow light signals on accident or other obstruction on the track and automatically slows down the field. It flashed on 11 times last year, thus holding down Flaherty's winning speed of 128.490.

The 1956 champ will watch the race. He is recovering from injuries suffered in a dirt track event last summer.

Spahn Outduels Gross as Braves Trip Cincinnati by 1-0 Score

By UNITED PRESS

If there are any members of the Dodgers and the Giants harboring misgivings about their proposed transfers to California, they ought to consult Warren Spahn

Since moving west with the old Boston Braves to Milwaukee four years ago, Spahn has proved he is just as good pitching on the shores of Lake Michigan as he was during his younger days on the banks of the Charles River.

The wily, 36-year-old southpaw hooked up with Cincinnati's young Don Gross in an old - fashioned pitching duel Tuesday night at Milwaukee. Gross had a no - hit, no - run game going until the eighth inning when Bobby Thomson led off the frame with a triple and later scored on Frank Torre's single to give Spahn and the Braves a 1-0 victory.

The Braves' single to give Spahn and the Braves a 1-0 victory.

The Braves' triumph allowed them to move within 2½ games of pace-setting Cincinnati and to within a half game of the Dodgers, who dropped a 3-2, 11 inning decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates. In other National League night games, Larry Jackson pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs, and the Phillies whipped the Giants, 16-6.

Chisox Down A's

In American League action, the White Sox retained their two-game hold on first place by downing the Athletics, 3-1; the Indians shaded the Tigers, 4-3, and the Yankees scored three runs in the 10th inning to defeat the Red Sox, 8-5. Baltimore and Washington were not scheduled.

Spahn allowed eight hits in chalking up his fifth victory of the season and his third over the Redlegs this year. He has always been tough on Cincinnati and now hold a 42-14 lifetime record against the Redlegs.

Pittsburgh relief pitcher Elroy Face won his own game against the Dodgers when he scored on PeeWee Reese's wild throw to the plate in the 11th inning. Don Newcombe absorbed the loss.

The Phillies ran up their highest run total in nearly three years against the Giants Winning pitcher Bob Miller, Rip Repulsk., Willie Jones and Stan Lopata each drove in three runs. Johnny Antonelli failed to retired a single batter as the Phils hopped on him for four runs in the first inning and handed him his sixth loss

Moon Extends Streak

Jackson, a relief pitcher, was awarded with his second start of the season against the Cubs and promptly set them down with only five hits. A single by Wally Moon enabled him to run his hitting streak through 21 games.

Rookie Bill Fischer allowed only six hits in pitching the White Sox to their win over the A's. He lost his bid for a shutout in the fourth inning on a homer by Hal Smith.

The Red Sox came from behind to tie the Yankees, 5-5, on Ted Williams' 11th homer of the season. But Hank Bauer doubled home two runs for the world champions in the 10th and then Gil McDougals singled home the "ticer."

A two-run pinch homer in the ninth by Ed Robinson, who was released by Detroit only two weeks ago, enabled the Indians to defeat the Tigers. Don Mossi held the Tigers to only three hits in the first eight innings but was trailing 3-2 when he gave way in the ninth to Ray Narleski, who gained the victory

Pirates Defeat Brooklyn, 3-2, In 11th Inning

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pirates finally have won one of the extra-inning night games that are becoming a standard thing at Forbes Field.

The Bucs beat the Dodgers, 3-2, in 11 innings Tuesday night—their first victory in eight night home games, five of which went into extra innings.

In the process the Bucs also ruined loser Don Newcombe's chance to pitch seven consecutive complete games for the first time in his career, broke his winning string at Forbes Field at six games, and kept alive Bob Friend's "no-losses" streak at home over Brooklyn. Friend, who didn't stay around to get the win Monday night, has beaten the Dodgers seven straight times at the park here.

Face Scores

Relief pitcher Elroy Face scored the winning run for the Pirates and also was the winning pitcher. The Pirates had the bases loaded in the 11th when Peewee Reese took Roberto Clemente's grounder to short and threw wild to the plate. Face, who was at third, crossed with the winning run.

Face led off the 11th with a bunt and advanced on Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice. Newcombe gave an intentional walk to Bill Virdon and was reached for a single by Bob Skinner. Cleo Laone relieved Newcombe at that point and Clemente then hit the ball which led to Big Don's downfall.

Brooklyn's Gino Cimoli hit the game's only homer, an inside-the-park clout in the eighth inning.

Tuns afternoon Ron Kline (0-6 will start for the Pirates against Johnny Podres (3-2).

Ortiz Takes on Chiocca Tonight

CHICAGO, (UP)—Unbeaten Carlos Ortiz, hoping to run his win streak to 24, takes on converted Parisian Felix Chiocca in a 10-round lightweight televised fight tonight.

Oritz, 20, who has knocked out nine of his 23 victims to date, said he wasn't necessarily going for a knockout against Chiocca, who has lost only five of 33 bouts.

"I'll wait and see," said Ortiz, a native of Puerto Rico who now lives in New York. "I always look for an opportunity to put across a knockout punch but I don't plan to spend the whole fight waiting for a chance to throw that one blow. I'll keep fighting throughout."

Chiocca, 23, a native Venezuelan who adopted Paris as his home a few years back, recently whipped Teddy (Red Top) Davis. In all, Chiocca has lost only one fight in the past three years. Of his 27 wins, five of them have been on knockouts. He has had one draw.

These were the findings of Comptroller General Joseph Campbell in an official investigation of the government expense accounts of Swing and the Border Patrol.

The Fayette City School Board met Monday evening with directors James Hamer, Bernard Sarra, Edward Snook and George Hancock present. The minutes and financial reports were read by Secretary Hancock and approved by the Board.

Hancock read the budget as it was proposed at the April meeting and it was adopted in the same form. The budget calls for total expenses of $64,252.12, to be spent as follows: general control, $1,970; instruction, $59,132.12 and auxiliary agencies $2,850.

The estimated receipts for the coming year are $78,564.16. Because the board recognized additional income it voted to lower the assessment on taxes five mills lower than in the past. They also voted to retain the present $10 per-capita tax.

Charles Humphries presented the tax duplicate for 1956-57 and it was settled with satisfaction.

Reelection of Hancock as secretary and Sarra as treasurer concluded the meeting.

Billy Graham Hits Hard at Divorce in Talk

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham Tuesday night preached a hard-hitting sermon on the Third Commandment, in which he said divorce and marital infidelity are "grievous forms of taking the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

The Third Commandment is not only a proscription against swearing, the 38-year-old Baptist minister said, but also against divorce, "cheating on your wife," "gluttony," "defiling of the body," "hypocrisy," and foolish prayers."

He told a Madison Square Garden crowd of 17,500 in the second of a series of sermons on The Commandments that 'God is an unchanging God. We may have changed over the years socially, philosophically and morally, but God's standards have not changed."

In the eyes of God, he said, "ducking out on marriage today is just as bad as it was 5,000 years ago, for you are breaking a sacred vow taken in God's name. When you get a divorce you are taking God's name in vain."

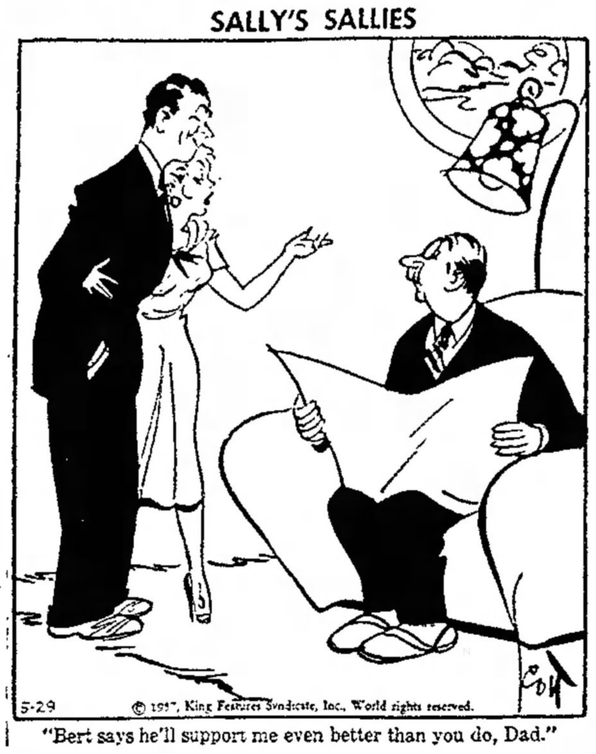
May Charge at Presque Isle

HARRISBURG (UP) — Presque Isle State Park in Erie would be the first state-owned recreation area to charge admission fees under legislation now under study in the General Assembly.

Sens. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) and John H. Dent (Westmoreland) introduced a bill Monday which would authorize the Erie Park and Harbor Commission to collect 25 cents from the operator of each motor vehicle entering the park, with the proceeds to be used to pay expenses for the park's operation.

Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, in charge of all 44 state parks, was reported to favor the measure.

SALLY'S SALLIES



"Bert says he'll support me even better than you do, Dad."

Wants to Protect The Word 'Congress'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Congressional Limited, Congress Variety Shop and Congressional Roller Skating Rink better watch out.

Rep. Clare "No Pockets" Hoffman (R-Mich.) wants to protect the words "Congress" and "congressional" from being used by just anyone.

The 81-year-old congressman who wears no-pocket trousers introduced bills Tuesday that would ban use of 'Congress" or "congressional" in a publication" title when that would convey the false impression that the publication is authorized by Congress. The bills also would ban the publications from the mails.

But that could be just the beginning. The government already bans all commercial enterprises from implying they are federal agencies by use of such title as "United States" and "U.S." Congress might decide to extend the law to cover "Congress" and "congressional." And what about such hallowed words as "senator," "Senate" and "House?"

The Washington telephone book alone contains 64 listings under "Congress" and "congressional", including the Library of Congress, which doesn't have to worry, and Eugene A. Congress, who might have to.

The listings include the Congress Barber Shop, Congress Beverage Co., Congress Heights Service Station and Congressional Intelligence. The last listing is the name of a firm, not an editorial comment.

Then there are the listings under "Senate." They sandwich the U. S. Senate (also see United States government) between Senate Delicatessen and a fellow named Sam Senator.

The House list is equally interesting. It includes House of Beauty, House of Beef, House of Prayer, House of Representatives (also see United States government), House of Spirits, House of the Good Shepherd and Miss Werdna House.

Finally, there are the Washington Senators. But some baseball fans contend they need a change, anyway.

State Senate May Investigate Building Laws

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate Tuesday approved and sent to the House one in a series of bills by which the Legislature would set up its own controls on administration spending.

The bill, passed by a 29-18 vote, would require all departments to submit quarterly budget reports for approval by the executive committee of the Joint State Government Commission and by the chairmen of the appropriations committees in both chambers of the Assembly.

Other bills expected to pass the Republican - controlled Legislature would set up "watchdog committees" to prevent the administration from spending money not allocated to it.

Satellite Program Troubled

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States' earth satellite program is in money trouble and the Defense Department is considering laying the problem before Congress for solution.

The department is responsible for launching the first man-made moon into an earth-circling orbit sometime during the International Geophysical Year (IGY), which runs from July 1, 1957, to December 31, 1958.

The problem is this:

When the White House announced the project in July, 1955, and before any actual work had been done on it, IGY scientists roughly estimated the satellite would cost 10 million dollars. Almost casually, they said the rocket launching apparatus would be extra. The U.S. National Committee for the IGY gave the Defense Department the task of rocketing the sphere into space, tracking it by radio and providing some of the minute instruments it must carry.

Now, 22 months later, the Pentagon says it has laid out $55,800,000 on the project and the National Science Foundation an additional $15,800,000. That totals $71,600,000 with the end not yet in sight.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is said to be irked by the increasing outlay of military department money for a project considered to be scientific and non-military in nature. He wonders, it is said, whether the Pentagon will be reimbursed for any funds diverted to the satellite and where the rest of the needed money is coming from.

That is the problem the Pentagon is considering handing Congress.

Teacher Is Honored

NEW YORK (UP)—Adelaide De Maison, teacher at Meadville Area High School, Meadville, Pa., was named today to the 1957 Honor Roll of Teachers by McCall's magazine.

Steel Prospects Are Good

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)—Prospects are good this year for steel and a new consumption record may be set, according to Richard F. Sentner, an executive vice president of U. S. Steel Corp.

Sentner told the National Association of Purchasing Agents on Monday night although steel ingot production has declined below 90 per cent of capacity for the first time in many months, "actual consumption of steel so far in 1957 is at a record level, and is substantially above both 1955 and 1956.

"What's more, we are convinced this will continue to be true not only for the balance of the second quarter, but, in fact, for the year as a whole," he said.

Another speaker, Tom Campbell editor of Iron Age, told the purchasing agents nonferrous metals are in good supply now, but some tightness may develop this fall because of an upsurge in business—mainly the auto industry.

He noted that orders for copper and aluminum already are showing some signs of improvement as many customers "scrape the bottom of the barrel following widespread inventory cutting spree".

"By this September, he said, "orders for aluminum, copper and zinc will show far more pep than they do now due to 1958 model car production, an ending of the inventory cutting program, a slight pickup in housing and much greater spending for defense items."

The first blood transfusion, according to record, was given to Pope Innocent VIII in 1492.

Safety Tale—

Remember This When You Drive Tomorrow

By JAMES GEGGIS

MAYNARD, Mass. (UP)—This is the story of the last day in the lives of four young women. Tuesday, May 21.

It began as a very ordinary day. Dorothy Boothroyd, 27, and her sister, Naomi, 22, drove together to the telephone company building where they worked as switchboard operators.

In the doorway that morning they met their friend, Barbara Doran, 21, a company secretary, and made plans for the evening. They were going to a phone company dinner for its employes. A fourth girl, Kathryn Bobritsky, 24, had called Dorothy the night before and, since she formerly worked as an operator too, they invited her along.

Picks Up Others

Miss Bobritsky picked up the others at 6:30 p.m. in her light blue, 1952 Plymouth sedan. All four had dressed up for the dinner. Rain had fallen during the day but by evening the skies were clear.

There were about 60 phone company people at the Twin Tree Restaurant and almost everyone knew the others. But it was a pretty dull evening. Food and then a talk from a company executive on courtesy to customers. No drinks, no dancing, no entertainment.

When it finally broke up, the girls were in the mood to have some fun and Dorothy suggested bowling in Harvard; 12 miles away.

"It's still early and it's a wonderful night for a drive," she said. It was. The stars had come out and the air was mild. The girls tried to persuade Kay Sullivan and Ruth McNiff to go bowling, too. But Miss Sullivan said she was "getting too old" and Ruth said she wanted to read and go to sleep.

So Miss Bobritsky dropped off the other two operators at their homes. Then she headed for Harvard on Route 2, a four-lane highway. It was 10:20 p.m.

At the cloverleaf intersection into Harvard, Kathryn apparently became confused for one brief moment. She slowed down the car in the right hand lane.

There was a thunderous, then grinding crash as a huge trailer tank truck hit the sedan from the rear. It crushed into the passenger car whose gasoline tank ignited.

Pinned In Back Seat

The sisters, Dorothy and Naomi, were pinned in the back seat. They were burned black. It was after midnight before rescue workers cut through the welded steel of the truck and the cars to remove their bodies.

Truck driver Sheldon P. Steady, 25, himself unhurt, pulled Kathryn from behind the wheel. She was dead.

It was not really the last day for Barbara but it might as well have been. She clung to life for 48 more hours.

Stassen Meets With NATO on Disarmament

PARIS (UP)—Harold E Stassen conferred today with the United States' NATO allies to seek approval of the 15-nation body on new American disarmament proposals.

The latest edition of President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan would subject at least eight NATO nations to reconnaissance by Soviet planes and Stassen must get their okay before proceeding.

Stassen, American delegate to the five-nation U.N. disarmament conference in London, returned from Washington Monday with the latest U.S. variation on the inspection plan.

He flew here Tuesday night to consult with the 15-nation NATO council while the disarmament subcommittee adjourned for the second time in two weeks to let Stassen make consultations abroad.

Pot of Paint Tosses Big Ben Out of Skelter

LONDON (UP)—A pot of paint fouled up Big Ben Tuesday night.

Listeners around the world listened in vain for the nightly nine o'clock chimes usually broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corp The famous old clock in the tower atop Parliament Building stopped at 8:40 p.m. Then it got all mixed up.

At four minutes past 10 Big Ben chimed the hour of 10. At six minutes past, it chimed the quarter hour. One minute later it sounded 10 again.

The Ministry of Works, which oversees Big Ben, rushed repairmen to administer to the old clock.

They discovered that Big Ben's recent face-lifting was the cause of all the trouble. A painter had left a pot of paint on a girder and vibrations apparently had edged it forward until it stopped the hour-hand counterweight.

The force of gravity varies over the world. In general, it increases near the poles.

Little Tennessee Town Not an Ordinary Place

By JIM WATERS

NEWPORT, Tenn. (UP)—Most folks think of this town as a pretty ordinary place. No president was ever born here. It's not Davy Crockett's home. No Civil War battle was ever fought for it.

Yet this mountain community has a tale that makes it something more than ordinary. See if you don't agree.

In the year 1914, a young doctor named Dennis Branch came here. He had worked his way through college and medical school by carrying mail and, in the summer, working on the railroad.

Returned With A Wife

Dr. Branch meant to stay here only six months, but his practice grew so fast he found he couldn't afford to leave. He went back to his hometown of Raleigh, N. C., and came back with a wife.

Those were the days of the horse-and-buggy doctor. Branch performed appendectomies on kitchen tables in the glow of a kerosene lantern. The years passed and Dr. Branch became one of the fixtures of Newport. He delivered the babies, treated the measles, helped the seriously ill, wrote the prescriptions, cared for the aged.

This is a small town. Its population is less than 4,000. But the people came from all over the countryside. Today Dr. Branch has 20 patients a day, seven days a week—some 7,000 in all.

A Clannish Town

Newport is a clannish town, too. It's deep in the moonshining country of eastern Tennessee and folks here don't take to a stranger quickly.

It is also a border state where the Negro-white division cuts deep. It is only 50 miles from Clinton where racial disorders flared last year during the integration of the high school.

That's what makes Newport more than ordinary.

For Dr. Branch, now 71, is a Negro. And 96 per cent of his patients are white.

Someone asked Dr. Branch not long ago how he explained it.

"I guess people will try anybody when they're sick," he said.

77th Commencement At Grove City

The 77th commencement exercise at Grove City College will be held in the arena of the Recreation building Saturday, June 8 at 10:30 a. m.

Degrees will be conferred on 220 seniors following an address by Dr. Howard E. Kershner, president of the Christian Freedom Foundation.

Among those receiving honorary degrees will be the Rev Lloyd D. Homer, of Jeannette and the Rev. Benedict Williams, of Sewickley.

Betsy Palmer Loves To Talk, She Says

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Betsy Palmer, an actress who loves to gab, admits she's one of the villains who's killing off the art of talk.

"I'm the original verbal woman," said Betsy today. "I never keep my mouth shut. It's one of the reasons I love being an actress. I'm going to play a model on 'Kraft Theatre' tonight, but can you imagine being a model? — They never get to talk.

"The trouble is, Ithink the art of conversation is slowly disappearing. And TV is to blame. At our home, we love to talk. We don't even allow the TV set in our living room. We keep it in a kind of balcony room where you have to climb upstairs to look at it.

Betsy, a blonde with elegant architecture, currently shuttles between drama assignments and the panel of NBC-TV's "Masquerade Party."

"Panel shows used to petrify me," she said. "You can't hide yourself in a character as you do in a dramatic show. And of course, there's a kind of trap working on a panel show—sometimes you try too hard to be bubbly and be the old personality girl and that's no good . . .

"Masquerade Party," has been a real life-saver for her, said Betsy.

"When you're on a panel show, the public gets to know your name. And you get constant exposure before the public. But with drama, the public knows the faces, but not the names.

"One of the troubles with drama, of course, is that the jobs are so few and far between on TV. The people who produce TV feel it's not wise to use the same personalities over and over. They think the public gets tired of looking at the same faces.

"I'm doing this 'Kraft' know, but the last 'Kraft' I did was in August. A long time. I did an 'Alcoa' last week, but before that my last 'Alcoa' was a year ago in March. It's been three months since I've been on 'Climax' and my last 'Studio One' was New Year's Eve."

Second Blast In Nuclear Test Is Called Off

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — Atomic Energy Commission scientists today called off the second blast in the 20-shot series of A-tests.

The test of the second "midget" nuclear device was postponed for 24 hours after a weather evaluation meeting. The next weather session was scheduled for this afternoon.

After a delay of nearly two weeks, hte AEC Tuesday set off the initial detonation in the United States' most extensive series of nuclear tests.

The device, packing a wallop of 10,000 tons of TNT, was set off atop a 500-foot tower. A double-headed mushroom cloud boiled up to 35,000 feet and moved slowly northwest over virtually uninhabited territory.

Chugo Koito of the Japanese Kyodo News Service said he was "somewhat disappointed" with the test.

"It is not as terrible as I had expected," he said. "But it is terrible enough. Like all the Japanese people I would like to see all A-bomb and H-bomb tests halted immediately because of the fall-out danger."

The boiling remnants of the cloud from Tuesday's detonation moved off in two concentrations which the AEC said would not drop "anything more than a light fallout."

Your Health—

Going Abroad? Need Proof of Vaccination

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

The United States has made great steps in eradicating many diseases. Many other countries, however, have not been so fortunate.

With modern air travel making it relatively simple to fly from the U. S. to virtually any foreign nation in a matter of hours, this could become quite a serious health problem.

But the U. S. Public Health Service and the World Health Organization have established regulations designed to prevent the spread of infectious disease from one nation to another.

If you do go abroad, you will need an International Certificate of Vaccination to do so.

In order to enter or re-enter the United States, you will need valid certificates attesting to the fact that you have been vaccinated against cholera, smallpox and yellow fever, depending on which country you have visited.

If you cannot prove you have had the required vaccinations, you may be subject to vaccination or surveillance up to 14 days. These foreign quarantine regulations are based on the incubation period of the various diseases.

Better check with your local health or federal government officials to determine just what disease protection you'll need when going abroad.

Then see your doctor or health department for the proper vaccinations. And be sure to obtain the needed official forms certifying your immunization.

Incidentally, better not plan on bringing back any pets. The United States and many other nations have strong regulations against the importation of birds, dogs, cats and monkeys which might have psittacosis.

This is a disease, usually found in parrots, parakeets and lovebirds, which can be transmitted to humans. A virus disease, it responds well to treatment with large doses of pencillin.

County Opens War On Pesky Bagworm

A war on bagworms is being waged in Westmoreland County, it was announced today by Farm Agent Joseph S. Thurston.

These insects do thousands of dollars in damage to ornamental shrubs and trees in the County each year, Thurston said.

They can be controlled with some insecticides if the materials are applied about June 1 while the bag worms are still small. Later in the summer as the bagworms approach maturity it is almost impossible to control except by hand picking.

The bagworm is easily recognized. Thurston said It is a single worm living in bags which vary in size from ½ to 1½ inches in length. These bags are covered with small pieces of leaves, twigs and debris from the host tree.

The adult female is wingless and never leaves the bag. She deposits eggs during the late summer and those eggs hatch in May and early June.

After hatching the young larvae immediately start making bags by chewing off small pieces of leaves from the tree from which they have hatched. The bags are dragged around by the caterpiller as it moves about feeding on the foliage.

Bagworms often defoliate arborvitae, red cedar, juniper and a number of other trees such as apple, elm, maple mulberry, oak, poplar, sycamore and willow.

The following sprays applied around June 1 are effective on newly-hatched caterpillers:

1 Three tablespoons of lead arsenate in one gallon of water or four pounds in 100 gallons of water.

2. Malathion 25 per cent wettable powder at the rate of 2½ to 4 tablespoons per gallon or 2½ to 4 pounds per 100 gallons of water.

3. Malathion 50 per cent emulsion at the rate of 1½ to 2 teaspoons per gallon or 1½ to two pints in 100 gallons of water.
